

top
lawyers

David Frees ^

Trusts and Estates Law

Practice: Unruh, Turner, Burke & Frees; offices in Malvern, Phoenixville and West Chester; utbf.com. Years in the profession: 21. Education: B.A., Dickinson College; J.D., University of Pennsylvania School of Law. His day revolves around: Helping people to plan their estates and use wills, trusts, durable powers of attorney, living wills and other planning techniques to protect themselves and their families. Many businesspeople and professionals seek me out to devise a long-term strategic solution to their estate plans, including protecting their heirs from divorce, taxation and litigation. What you should know about his specialty: That the documents are the last piece of the puzzle. You want your plan to be tailored to your specific needs and desires, and the wishes of those important to you. He knew he wanted to be a lawyer when: I was 8 or 9 when I first announced my interest in the law. As a parent of three children, I now realize that I was probably a little ahead of the game. Proudest professional moment: My two books: The Language of Parenting: Building Great Family Relationships at All Ages is a communications skills books for families based on my experience and training; Einstein's Business is a collection of essays on business by M. Scott Peck, Tom Peters, Donald Trump, a number of well-known business writers and ... me."

PHOTOGRAPH: SHANE MCCAULEY