

Child Custody

The determination of physical and legal custody can be one of the most challenging and sensitive things a family can go through. The custody attorneys at Unruh Turner Burke & Frees, P.C., provide a compassionate and honest voice of reason during these challenging times, keeping the child's best interest in mind. We are committed to achieving a custodial schedule that is child-focused, setting aside any differences between the parents.

Whether resolution occurs through mediation, modification, a conciliation conference, or a custody trial, our custody lawyers in West Chester, PA are prepared to guide you through the process.

If you have any questions about child custody or find yourself in a dispute, please contact Amanda Grant who leads our family law practice.

Areas of Family Law Relating to Child Custody:

- Child Custody
- Child Support
- Custody Relocation
- Custody Modification
- Grandparents' Custody Rights
- Protection from Abuse

Making Custody Decisions in Your Child's Best Interest

Divorce, separation, and determining child custody and visitation can be a challenging time for families. A skilled family law attorney who understands Pennsylvania custody laws can bring peace of mind during an emotionally charged time and often complex process.

If you're seeking a child custody attorney in West Chester, PA or the surrounding communities, our team is prepared to offer compassionate guidance and help you find the right resolution for your family. Contact our West Chester office to arrange a consultation with custody attorney Amanda Grant about your case.

Child Custody Lawyers in West Chester, PA

Amanda M.V. Grant

Resources:

- Best Interests: Should it be “Factors Taken into Account to Assess the “Best Interests of the Child” Legal Standard?
- Understanding Physical v. Legal Custody
- Mediation Tips